Managers of "Girl from Joyland" Accused of Running Immoral Show.

ARRESTS HOLD UP PEPPERY LAST ACT

Audience Waits Expectantly Until Play Is Called Off—Police Act on Complaints.

Police Commissioner Woods carried his recent general cleanup of the Tenement into the vaudeville zone last night, when election night crowds descended Broadway and overdrove intermission reports.

A large audience was in the Garrick Theatre, its Thirty-fifth Street, at 10:30, waiting for the rise of the curtain on the last act of an unusually peppy performance of "A Girl from Joyland." The curtain did not go up.

After a ten-minute wait the management announced that the last act could not go up because the police had censored the show. While the audience was thundered by the antics of the comedians instead of the election returns a squad of detectives from Commissioner Arthur Woods' office had entered the Garrick quietly. They arrested eight persons, including several actors and actresses, charged with giving an immoral performance.

So many complaints against "A Girl from Joyland" had come to the police that Commissioners Woods sent two detectives to witness the show's several days ago. Magistrate McNamee issued eight warrants, which were served last night by Detectives Conway and Reith, of Special Squad No. 4, attached to the Commissioner's office.

With little grumbling and no disorder, the audience filed out into Thirty-fifth Street, but the sudden acquisition of the star-studded brigade on Broadway, by the time the police patrol arrived at the theatre patrolmen from the West Thirtieth Street station had to light their way through a mass of curious humanity.

Murray J. Simmons and Billie Gilbert, comedians, and Beulah Kennedy and Sadie Rose, dancers, in the late "A Girl from Joyland," were locked up at the West Thirtieth Street station awaiting trial. Walter Rosenberg, James Gilgen and Charles Gray, managers, and William, producer, manager of the show, were taken to the men's night court, charged with permitting and producing an immoral performance.

The performer defendants will be arraigned in the West Side Court to-day.

MRS. S. L. HOWELLS, 86, DEAD

For Six Years Directed Society for Relief of Orphan Children.

Mrs. Sara Lee Howells, for sixty years a director of the Society for the Relief of Orphan and Destitute Children, died yesterday after a six month illness following a stroke of paralysis. She was the widow of H. C. Howells, who died twelve years ago.

Mrs. Howells was born in this city eighty-six years ago and made her home here and in Morristown, N. J. For the last several years she lived at 46 West End Avenue with her daughter, Mrs. Henry Howell.

Other members who were Mrs. Andrew E. Howell, 55 West Seventy-seventh Street; W. W. Renwick, of Sett Hills, N. J.; Clifford Howells, of Newark, and Vincent Howells, now in Italy.

The funeral will be held at Mrs. Howell's late residence Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery.

15 LOST WITH STEAMER.

Santa Clara Pounded to Pieces on Oregon Coast.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 2.—At least fifteen lives were lost today when the North Pacific Steamship Company's steamer Santa Clara was wrecked on the South Jetty rocks in Coos Bay, Ore. The vessel is to-night pounding to pieces on the rocks.

The Santa Clara left Portland at 8:30 a.m. Her last register was kept at 12:30 p.m. She operated between Portland and San Francisco via Coos Bay and Eureka.

The funeral will be held at Mrs. Howell's late residence Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery.

FIRE RECORD.

Philadelphia Man Thrown Against Lamp Post in Crash.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 2.—At least fifteen lives were lost today when the North Pacific Steamship Company's steamer Santa Clara was wrecked on the South Jetty rocks in Coos Bay, Ore. The vessel is to-night pounding to pieces on the rocks.

When Miss La Rue brought her suit against him Chandler insisted that he was the victim of misrepresentation.

He averred that he never beat up noblemen, never created rich men, nor was worth a million and never had been, never ran after chorus girls, never three years ago put automobiles and wasn't a spendthrift. He denied that any of the stories which had been printed about his life abroad were true.

According to Miss Gear's mother, Mr. Chandler cannot be too hopeful of setting out upon another matrimonial venture in the near future. She denied last evening that her daughter was engaged, but admitted that she and Mr. Chandler had lived together.

Other persons who were Mrs. Andrew E. Howell, 55 West Seventy-seventh Street; W. W. Renwick, of Sett Hills, N. J.; Clifford Howells, of Newark, and Vincent Howells, now in Italy.

The performer defendants will be arraigned in the West Side Court to-day.

TOYS WITH GUN, IS KILLED

Boy of Sixteen Found Dead by Father on Floor of Home.

Walter Veluthius, sixteen years old, of 46th Tenth Avenue, was found dead on the floor of his home at noon yesterday by his father. A revolver, with the exploded cartridge, was at his side.

The police of the West Thirtieth Street station reported that young Veluthius had committed suicide after an investigation. Coroner's Physician Schwartz declared that death had been accidental. He asserted that the boy undoubtedly had been toying with the weapon, which he had found in a drawer in his father's delicatessen store on the ground floor.

KILLED AS AUTO HITS POST

Philadelphia Man Thrown Against Lamp Post in Crash.

Eug. Harbor, N. J., Nov. 2.—Joseph Thackeray, of 5280 Germantown Avenue, Philadelphia, was killed to-night when he drove his automobile into an iron post at Green Bank. With him were Fred and Walter Cooper, of 213 Springhurst Street, Philadelphia. The two drivers escaped serious injury.

The automobile was going along at good speed when the rear wheel struck a hole in the road and machine skidded. Thackeray was thrown forward, against two stones on the ground, punctured his lungs. The injured man died in a doctor's house.

FETE FOR CARNEGIE AT 80

Has Recovered from Recent Illness—Celebration November 25.

Plans are being made for the celebration of Andrew Carnegie's eightieth birthday on November 25, it was learned at his home, 2 East Ninth Street, yesterday. Mr. Carnegie took two walks in the garden yesterday afternoon, one with Mrs. Carnegie and one with his physician. He seems to have recovered from his indisposition of a week ago, reports of which have been called exaggerated.
